

200 Code of conduct

09.12.2025

Approved by the Axactor Board

Contents

1. Our code of conduct	4
2. Target group	5
3. Reporting, investigation, and resolution of conflicts	5
4. Customer services	6
5. Zero tolerance of fraud and corruption	7
6. Economic sanctions and money laundering prevention.....	7
7. Antitrust law	8
8. Inside information.....	8
9. Secrecy obligation.....	8
10. Human rights and fair employment practices	9
11. Managing errors.....	10
12. Loyalty and conflicts of interest	10
13. Decision making and authorities.....	10
14. Internal control and risk management	11
15. Property and assets.....	11
16. Environment.....	11
17. Corporate communication.....	11
18. Privacy – data handling	11
19. Accurate financial records	12

20. Supporting documents 12

1. Our code of conduct

The objectives of the Axactor Group are to engage efficiently, responsibly and profitably for all our stakeholders including our investors, customers, debtors, and employees. We do this by living our values – passion, trust, and proactive. These are shared values that underpin all the work we do, and they create the foundation for our code of conduct. Our values are anchored at the top of our organization, and inherent in everything we do – setting the tone at the top.

Passion. We are passionate about creating value for our investors and society – but always in an ethical and sustainable manner. Our business principles and practices apply to any matter of business, big or small. They clearly state and guide the behavior expected of every Axactor employee, including temporary employees, in their conduct of our business. We honor these principles not because we must, but because it is the right thing to do.

Trust. We treat everyone with fairness and respect. Team spirit, mutual trust and treating each other with respect are incontestable to us. This applies to everyone we are in contact with, or that is affected by our business. We want to be perceived as a trustworthy member of the credit life cycle, and for our employees to be proud to take part in our shared journey.

Proactive. We learn from the past and we always rise to new challenges. Every one of us has a responsibility to speak up and voice their opinion when something is wrong or if something does not feel right. Speaking up is not optional, and where we believe that we are in violation of laws or company policies, we raise our concerns in a timely manner. To that end, we create an atmosphere in which we can own up without fear of retaliation. We respect differences in opinion and encourage our employees to question the decisions of others.

We play to win, but always by the rules. This means we comply with all applicable laws and regulations in the jurisdictions in which we operate, as well as internal and external rules of ethical conduct, agreements with employee representatives, and this code.

The application of these principles and guidance is supported by a comprehensive set of company-wide policies and procedures, which are designed to make sure that our employees understand the principles and confirms in writing that they agree to act in accordance with them. Failure to appropriately acknowledge our code, or to complete the required trainings, does not release us from the responsibility to act by these principles.

We also require our customers, suppliers, and their subcontractors to observe these principles, for instance by requiring our suppliers to sign our Supplier Code of Conduct and regularly reviewing their performance.

Where the code does not offer specific guidance, we base our decisions and actions on integrity, fairness, and common sense. Our actions should always stand the light of day.

2. Target group

This code with relevant policies and procedures applies to all directors of the Board, employees, including temporary employees and consultants, and all legal entities within the Axactor Group.

All our employees are trained in our code at the beginning of their employment, including temporary employees and consultants.

3. Reporting, investigation, and resolution of conflicts

We all have an obligation to speak up when something is wrong, or if something does not feel right. Speaking up protects not only the interests of our company, but the interests of our employees, our stakeholders, and society. We have clear guidelines that should be followed if we observe or suspect breaches of law, this code, company policies, or ethics. Everyone that in good faith reports a breach, or suspicion of a breach, will be protected and not met with any reprisals – this is an unwavering principle. We have the following guidelines which should be followed if a breach or ethical dilemma is observed:

- Discuss the matter/ethical dilemma with your immediate supervisor. If the supervisor might be involved, then the issue should be presented to either the next level manager, the compliance officer in the country, or HR.
- Ethics committee. Axactor has an ethics committee supervising the company's compliance to the standards and principles described in this code. The ethics committee shall also advice on matters relating to inter alia, diversity, sustainability, and other matters the committee and our employees considers important. Where there exists ambiguity or doubt related to resolving any ethical dilemma or any specific case, the question may be referred to the ethical committee to be resolved. The ethical committee may also where appropriate refer the case to the executive team or ultimately the Board for a decision.

- We also have a whistleblower channel. Our whistleblower channel is open to all employees as well as our vendors and other third parties, who wish to report violations by or on behalf of Axactor or our employees. The whistleblower channel also allows for anonymous reporting and reporting directly to various levels of elevation – at country level, at Group level, at Board level, and directly to external counsel. You can find our whistleblower channel on the following link, along with the whistleblower procedure: <https://portal.mittvarsel.no/skjema/axactor/i9VEHCILfSFZsz2b.711?lang=en>.

While handling any reported breaches, we always apply strict confidentiality, regardless of reporting channel. Our whistleblower system places value on fairness, in dealing with both whistleblowers and employees affected by an allegation, and we always apply the principle of proportionality. We examine each case individually to determine what consequences are suitable, necessary, and appropriate in each instance. Breaches of this code may lead to disciplinary consequences relative to the type of breach and scope, such as, formal warning, cut in bonus, change of work tasks, dismissal, or even civil or criminal prosecution.

4. Customer services

We value long-term relationships with our customers, and we strive to build trust and confidence over time by delivering our services with passion, professionalism and sustainability at the core of our services.

We are experts in our field of work and by an open and honest dialog with our customers, we always provide the optimal solution without delay.

When a customer chooses to terminate their contract with us, they will always be treated politely and in a professional manner. We do our best to uphold a good relationship with our former customers and make it easy for them to restart a customer relationship at a later stage. We do not burn bridges, we build them.

We will not participate in any operations that conflicts with good business practices or support any unlawful or unethical actions possibly taken by a customer. We shall have a responsible selection of customers.

We do not offer services to customers whose services are based upon unethical business principles and practices, or sales of services that is morally doubtful. We do not engage in business that can jeopardize our values or reputation.

5. Zero tolerance of fraud and corruption

We have zero tolerance of corruption and fraud in all its forms, including facilitation of payments, extortion, bribery, and trading in influence. This applies without exception.

Corruption is the abuse of trust or office in order to obtain a personal gain. Corruption may involve exchanging items of value, or provision of services or other favors in order to obtain a personal benefit by virtue of one's position. When dealing with customers and suppliers, gifts and invitations are permitted only within strict limits. To prevent us from breaching our code, and suffering reputational damage or financial loss, we base our decisions on objective and verifiable reasons and are not influenced by inappropriate rewards.

As employees, we may not encourage, ask for, or demand, gifts, invitations, personal services, or favors from our business partners. We shall politely reject any such offers and advancements when they can give rise to even the mere appearance of undue influence. When granting or receiving discounts and rebates, we ensure they are appropriate. We accept invitations from customers to dinners or events only if they are freely given, serve a business purpose, do not occur with excessive frequency and if the invitation is appropriate for the occasion.

Through regular training, internal controls, and audits, we ensure that violations are prevented, detected, and sanctioned, as outlined in our different policies and procedures, including the Anti-Fraud and Anti-Corruption policy.

6. Economic sanctions and money laundering prevention

As an international group, we comply with both national and international economic sanctions regulations and support the community of states in fighting against money laundering and terrorism financing, as outlined in the Anti-Money-Laundering policy.

Employees responsible for our business processes are obliged to design these in such a manner that they prevent all forms of financial crime.

7. Antitrust law

Competition is an essential part of a well-functioning and free market and is one of the fundamental pillars of our social and economic system. It creates growth and employment.

We, too, benefit from functioning competition because the laws also protect us from unlawful agreements and excessive prices. We are committed to ensuring fair competition in our markets and to following applicable antitrust and competition laws, being further described in our Antitrust policy.

Antitrust risks occur in a wide variety of situations, for example:

- when exchanging information and benchmarking with competitors
- as part of investments in shareholdings and during cooperation
- in connection with customer service and sales and furthermore when engaging in trade association activities

8. Inside information

Misuse of inside information is strictly prohibited. We are committed to fair securities trading and take all necessary and appropriate actions to prevent insider trading.

Inside information refers non-public and precise information which directly or indirectly concern Axactor (or any other issuer of securities) and if made public, will have a significant effect on the share price or price of any other security relating to the company in question.

When in possession of inside information, we are obliged to act in accordance with the Insider policy.

9. Secrecy obligation

Any information received during the performance of our duties shall be treated with the outmost confidentiality. This duty of confidentiality remains in force also after you have left the company. No individual shall exploit any Axactor-specific information in his or her own business or in the service of or working for others.

Confidential information includes both the information disclosed to us by our customers, suppliers, debtors, partners, and other interest groups, as well as internal information from and about our own company.

Confidential information includes, but are not limited to, bank secrecy or other business secrets, debtor personal data, financial information, operational plans, etc. Confidential information shall not be discussed with other employees, except where necessary for carrying out required tasks. If certain confidential information needs to be shared with third parties, appropriate legal counsel shall be sought, and sufficient safeguards ensured prior to any such disclosure.

10. Human rights and fair employment practices

We are committed to respecting human rights. We reject all forms of discrimination in hiring and employment, child labor, threats against people who defend human rights, and other human rights violations. The protection of the fundamental labor rights is important to us. We have described our detailed commitments to human- and workers' rights in our Human Rights policy.

We believe that diversity is not simply a matter of complying with legal requirements. Our strength lies in the differences between our employees, which are one of the key factors in our success. Their varied skills, perspectives, and experiences form the basis of innovation and help us to understand the needs of our customers and debtors.

We treat everyone equal and with respect, regardless of gender, nationality, disability, marital status, religion, or sexual orientation and are committed to equal opportunities for all employees.

All of our employees shall be free to participate in unions for employees and be free to leave his/her employment after giving reasonable notice. Fair employment practices shall follow local norms, laws, and/or collective bargaining agreements. We shall offer a working environment where it is possible to combine work, career, family life and spare time. We value the competences of the employees, support knowledge sharing and on-the-job development.

We provide a healthy (physically and psychologically), safe, and satisfactory working environment, and do not engage in or support any kind of forced-, compulsory- or child labor.

11. Managing errors

We learn from our mistakes, as individuals and as an organization. Our approach to managing errors is therefore transparent and open, and we share our experiences in order to enable progress and innovation.

This requires shaping our corporate culture in such a way that wrongful decisions are recognized, discussed, and corrected. It is up to every one of us to take responsibility and create – or demand – a working environment in which employees have no concerns about speaking up about possible errors or mistakes. We treat employees who disclose their mistakes with fairness and responsibility.

12. Loyalty and conflicts of interest

As employees of we are expected to be loyal to Axactor and its interests.

We respect the personal interests and the private lives of our employees. Every employee must make sure that personal and private financial interests do not influence business decisions.

We avoid situations in which personal or private financial interests' conflict with the interests of Axactor, our customers', or suppliers'. If such conflicts of interest arise, we disclose them and seek a solution as outline above, and as further described in the Anti-Fraud and Anti-Corruption policy.

13. Decision making and authorities

All decisions shall be made at the appropriate level in accordance with the delegated authorities provided in the Delegation of Authority policy. Employees may only make internal decisions and/or commit Axactor towards external third parties if an authorization for this is delegated to the employee. We only operate within the limits of any given mandate. All decisions we make which affect the relationship between us, and a customer or supplier, shall be duly documented.

14. Internal control and risk management

All units within our company shall have solid internal controls and risk management, ensuring that our policies and procedures are complied with, and that our goals and strategies are met. Our internal control and risk management framework shall ensure that the business processes are at all times efficient, and within an acceptable level of risk. Our approach to internal controls and risk management is detailed in the Legal and Compliance policy.

15. Property and assets

Our property and assets (tangible and intangible) shall be managed and safeguarded in an appropriate manner as outlined in the IT and information security policy and the Physical Security policy. All of our employees shall comply with our information security requirements when accessing and using our facilities, electronic resources, and documents. Information produced and stored on Axactor's IT systems is to be regarded as company property.

16. Environment

The environment is of the highest importance to us as a company. Despite the fact that we operate within a low emissions industry, we support and endorse environmental protection and principles of sustainable development. Environmental matters shall be integrated into our daily business and the principles set out in our Environmental policy.

17. Corporate communication

All communication and information that comes from us as a company shall be reliable, correct, with high ethical standards towards the contents – and always be professional. Communication is a management responsibility, and our requirements and guidelines for corporate communications are described further in our Communication policy.

18. Privacy – data handling

We shall only process personal data in compliance with applicable data protection legislation and the Data Privacy policy. Personal data may only be collected for specified, explicit, and legitimate purposes. Any personal data we process shall always be processed fairly and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subjects.

Data enables innovative services that offer added value for our customers, debtors, and employees. We create trust by respecting data protection as a personal and human right. That is why we process and use personal data only to the extent permitted by laws, regulations, or the data subjects themselves. These principles extend beyond data protection. They describe the responsible and legally compliant handling of data as a whole, even where the data is not personal data. Our aim is to consider data protection from the very beginning, analyze data intelligently, and store, share and use it responsibly. We are transparent on how we process personal data.

Those who entrust us with their personal data should be able to count on it being safe with us. All our employees share the responsibility for protecting personal data against unauthorized access by third parties and take the measures necessary to prevent unauthorized access and use.

19. Accurate financial records

We are committed to keeping accurate financial records and following applicable statutory accounting- and reporting frameworks, providing our investors and society with an accurate and transparent view on our company – as further outlined in our Finance policy and adjacent policies and procedures.

20. Supporting documents

- Group Whistleblower procedure
- Axactor's Supplier Code of Conduct
- Axactor Policies; Corporate Governance, IT and Information Security, Procurement, Communication, Human Resources, Legal and Compliance, Operations, Delegation of Authority, Physical Security, Environmental, Debt Purchase, Anti-Fraud and Anti-Corruption, Anti-Money Laundering, Data Protection, Insider, Finance, Antitrust and Human Rights

Review log

Version	Date	Changed by	Comments
2.0	12.12.2018	Chief of Staff	Several changes
3.0	12.12.2019	Chief of Staff	No changes
4.0	15.12.2020	Chief of Staff	No changes
5.0	23.02.2021	Chief of Staff	Alignment with ESG and anti-fraud and anti-corruption policy
6.1	15.12.2021	Chief of Staff	Minor changes
7.0	15.12.2022	Chief of Staff	Update and modernization
8.0	12.12.2023	Chief of Staff	No changes. Minor wording correction conducted prior to signing by employees 02.09.2024.
9.0	12.12.2024	Chief of Staff	Minor adjustments
10.0	09.12.2025	Chief of Staff	No changes

Policy name: Code of conduct
 Policy number: 200
 Date last approved: 09.12.2025
 Policy owner: Chief of Staff
 Classification: Internal